

BOY HERO SHOULD HAVE A MEDAL

Move Started to Recognize the Brave Acts of an Ogden Lad.

HAS SAVED THE LIVES OF BABY AND A GIRL

Subject for Carnegie Hero Medal and His Acts of Heroism Remembered.

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, April 8.—The heroic act of young Thomas A. Harris, the sixteen-year-old son of Mr. and Joseph D. Harris of Ogden, who, on Sunday, March 25 of this year, jumped into the icy torrent of the Weber river near Ogden and saved the life of a young girl at the risk of his own, is not being passed unnoticed. At the time of the incident The Tribune, in giving the account, stated that Harris should be made one of the subjects for a Carnegie hero medal. His case will be taken up and his friends in Ogden, and in Utah, and those of his parents will insist that the signal act of heroism be recognized.

Plunged Into River.

While the young people were crossing on some plank bridge that is being constructed over the river by the Oregon Short Line, the young girl, Ivy Blair, about 15 years of age, lost her balance and fell into the raging torrent. She was at once washed down the river with the current. The boy, disregarding the fact that he was heavily clothed and not in a condition to swim, immediately jumped after her. He wore heavy roughing boots, but being a powerful boy for his years, he caught up with the rapidly drowning girl, just in time, however, to save her from a deep and treacherous whirl where, had he reached it, both would have lost their lives, because of the weight of their clothing.

Thomas A. Harris, 16-Year-Old Hero of Ogden.

Had Saved Life of Baby.

During June, 1905, young Thomas Harris saved the life of the baby, 1 year and 2 months old, of Mr. and Mrs. John Shepard of Ogden. The child had tried to cross the Union Pacific track coming into Ogden at a time when the overhead was down. Its clothing had caught on the end of a tie and it could not release itself. Young Harris saw the child in the predicament, and at the same time he heard the approaching train. Knowing he could not reach the infant, he turned the train toward the river and flagged it by waving his hat. The engineer applied the air and brought the train to a slower speed. He had been running at thirty miles an hour, but a full stop was not made until the child was reached. Its little body was lying across the rail, and had the engine passed one foot further the infant would have been cut in two. Nothing but the prompt and intelligent action of the boy saved the child from a horrible death, and he was subsequently congratulated and commended for his act by the engineer and conductor of the train and by the railroad officials.

His Courage Admired by All.

The accompanying photograph of young Harris was taken the day prior to his heroic rescue of the girl in the river, and shows the identical clothing he wore when he went into the waters and effected her rescue. The heavy boots will be noticed and the miracle of his success, as well as his unselfish courage in making the attempt will be admired.

Thomas A. Harris is a student in the Pioneer public school of Ogden, and is much admired by his teachers and is loved by his fellow pupils. The movement that his two signal acts of heroism are recognized is being forwarded by his child friends as well as by that part of the community that was glad to see such noble efforts. He is perhaps the youngest participant in two heroic rescues of human life in the United States.

BLIND MAN WINS LOVE

Cambridge Citizen Says Wife's Affection Has Been Alienated.

BOSTON, April 8.—The love and affection which a blind man should bear toward his wife have been lawfully gained and wrested away from that husband by a blind murderer, according to a still brought by Alfred Scholes of Cambridge against Harry Welch, the famous blind pianist of that city, who brought his wife to the attention of Mrs. Scholes.

Mrs. Scholes is 45 years old, and, up to month ago, has been living with her husband and three children at No. 22 Franklin street, Cambridge. Scholes is an engineer.

Welch is 35 years old and fully and apparently gained the affections of Mrs. Scholes and persuaded her to leave her husband's home on March 19th. Scholes has also lodged a libel for divorce against his wife, and she has lodged a cross-bill against him on the grounds of drunkenness and abusive treatment.

GREAT UPRISING IN RUSSIA IMMINENT

Revolutionist Leader Who Is in New York Tells the Story.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Some inside facts in connection with the new revolutionary movement in Russia were told yesterday by one of its chief agents, who for the last five weeks has been in hiding in this city with a price of $5,000 on his head, laid by the czar's government, says The Times.

Wife and Children Killed.

This man, who for the present appears as Ivan Narodny, is 36 years old. He was the leader of the Cronstadt uprising last October, and was the head of the provisional republic which, unknown to the outside world, existed in the Baltic provinces during three weeks in November and December last, until it was snuffed out in an orgy of blood and excesses by the Cossacks, who killed Narodny's wife and two children and burned his home. It was then the price was set on Narodny's head.

Bears His Credentials.

M. Narodny comes to this country with credentials from the Russian military revolutionists for the purpose of raising funds to render effective the new Russian revolution. In this he will be aided by Nicholas Tchaikovsky, who is known as the "father of Russian revolution," and by Maxim Gorky, the writer, who is due here next week.

Will Be Armed Revolution.

"Our next move," said M. Narodny, "will be more far-reaching and entirely different from any of the movements that have preceded it. These have been little revolts; this will be an armed revolution. The uprisings that have gone before have been more or less local in nature, and generally started by some one party or organization. This movement will sweep the country and will have behind it every organization working for social reform. Its ultimate goal will be not a constitutional monarchy, but a republic."

NEW TREATY BETWEEN AMERICA AND CUBA

Believed That United States Is Now Getting Worst of the Bargain.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Acting under instructions from the State department, Edwin Morgan, Minister at Havana, has been in conference with the officials of the Cuban foreign office for some time past, with the purpose of framing a new reciprocity treaty to replace the existing convention. He has now practically completed his work and a treaty has been drafted that may be ready for submission to the Senate before the adjournment of the present session.

Getting Worst of Bargain.

The reason for the preparation of this new treaty is that the officials here have become convinced that America is getting by far the worst of the bargain under the present arrangement. Under the old treaty all the exports from Cuba come to our ports, only a little more than one-third of the imports into Cuba are furnished by American farmers and merchants. Europe furnishing practically the balance.

The Cuban Government did not care to make these concessions, but it was confronted with the fact that otherwise there would be no trade at all at the expiration of the present convention, and without the preferential rates of the treaty it would be impossible to market Cuban sugar and other staples in the United States at profitable rates, thus threatening ruin to Cuba.

MANY INDICTMENTS

Federal Grand Jury at Pueblo, Colo., Is Keeping Busy.

PUEBLO, Colo., April 7.—Seventeen indictments were returned by the Federal grand jury at Pueblo today in a parting report. Of the five indictments made public today, four are in connection with counterfeiting, and the fifth counterfeit money and the fifth forgery.

The twelve other indictments were not made public, as the parties have not been arrested. The grand jury will make its final report next Tuesday.

SUICIDE IN SLEEP

Well-Known Akron, O., Man Hangs Himself in Slumber.

AKRON, O., April 8.—Jacob Stair, aged 65, who has been noted as a sleep walker, arose early today while asleep, walked down stairs and deliberately hanged himself to a floor joist with a piece of twine. He is said to have discussed the horrors of suicide with his wife last night. He was a prominent Mason and ex-city Councilman.

Officer Is Acquitted.

DURANGO, Colo., April 7.—Policeman Jesse C. Stansel was acquitted by a jury today of the charge of having murdered Sheriff Wilson of this county, whom he shot and killed in a duel on the street here on January 9 last.

Von Buelow All Right Now.

BERLIN, April 7.—Chancellor von Buelow slept comfortably during the night and his condition is so satisfactory that Prof. Reverser will not issue any more bulletins.

Loss of Appetite

Is common when the blood needs purifying and enriching, for then the blood fails to give the digestive organs the stimulus necessary for the proper performance of their functions.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is pre-eminently the medicine to take. It makes the blood pure and rich, and strengthens all the digestive organs.

SAYS HE DID NOT INDOERSE THOMAS

Interview With Western Postal Official Printed in Zion Is Repudiated.

HE SO DECLARES IN LETTER TO THE TRIBUNE

Alleged Indorsement of Postmaster Thomas Proves a Rank Fake

Special to The Tribune.

A couple of weeks ago several Salt Lake newspapers published what was purported to be an interview with a prominent Western postoffice official, in which a very strong indorsement was given to the administration of Postmaster Thomas of Salt Lake.

The Tribune has a letter from this official in which he repudiates the interview in toto, as we believed he would when his attention was called to them.

This is another sample of the way Postmaster Thomas and his friends attempt to boost up the rotten condition of affairs in the local postoffice.

Herald's Bad Break.

A week or so prior to the publication of this fake interview Postmaster Thomas or some one for him, declared through the Herald that the bad service in this city was due to neglect or carelessness on the part of the chief clerk of the railway mail service.

Exposed by The Tribune.

The Tribune promptly exposed this matter and showed that the chief clerk of the railway mail service has nothing more to do with the mail messenger service in Salt Lake than has the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania, but the Herald nor Postmaster Thomas had the decency to explain the situation or apologize to the postal official who was shamelessly dragged into the controversy.

What an Inspector Says.

The Tribune inquired of a postoffice inspector who was here at that time investigating affairs in Salt Lake, and that inspector declared, when shown the Herald article, "He (the chief clerk of the railway mail service) has no more control of the mail messenger in Salt Lake than you have."

Then came the fake interview.

Public Does Not Forget.

It is not surprising that these things should be done when the public remembers that a colored newspaper editor was carried on the payroll of the Salt Lake postoffice as a "janitor" when he did not perform an hour's service in the Salt Lake postoffice in his life. The postmaster wanted to be reimbursed, according to affidavits on file in The Tribune office, that was all.

The Leaven Is Working.

The leaven is working, however. More than three years ago Postmaster Thomas was instructed to separate from the service one of the employees of the postoffice and he ignored the Civil Service commission's order in this case until the Postoffice department got after him a few weeks ago with a sharp stick and that employee is not now on the rolls. There are some other things coming up that may give Postmaster Thomas a jolt that he will not forget for a long time.

One Surprising Thing.

The surprising thing is that a newspaper like the Herald will become a party to the skullduggery and ingenuously attempt to save the scalp of an incompetent and reckless postoffice official by impugning the official integrity or qualifications of an exceptionally competent man.

"Mutton Bill" Jones is reported to have attempted to work off some more rotten meat on the inmates of the county infirmary a short time ago, and was only prevented by the cook, who refused to prepare the meal for the table. It was sent back to the butcher.

In the change of administration of the county infirmary, the Tribune informed that a couple of sacks of flour, a considerable amount of other provisions, and a lot of kitchen utensils have disappeared. Of course the County Commissioners will not look into this. They are too busy squandering the public funds. The kitchen utensils, it is alleged, were not purchased for the use of the county, but they were paid for by the county just as a lot of other things. The Tribune has been furnished information about.

LIVING TOO HASTILY

AMERICAN WOMEN BREAK DOWN

Special to The Tribune.

TONOPAH, Nev., April 8.—Thomas W. Logan, Sheriff of Nye county, died at Manhattan Saturday from four bullet wounds, inflicted by Walter Berleau, a faro dealer in the Monarch saloon at that place. The trouble occurred late Friday night in a disreputable house owned by a woman named Bigger. Berleau was drunk on a couch. The woman ordered him out. They quarreled and Berleau struck the woman in the face. She called to Logan for help.

Threw Berleau Out.

Logan grappled with the man, striking him in the face and threw him into the street. Berleau stepped to a side window, shot at Logan and eight children ran into his arrest unarmed. Berleau opened fire and shot Logan four times, once in the chest, twice in the shoulder and once in the abdomen.

The last shot was fatal. Logan, with the blood pouring from his wounds, grappled with Berleau and his gun away from him, aided by bystanders, and beat Berleau over the head until he became insensible. An officer arrived, separated the men and arrested Berleau. Logan was helped into the house, where he suffered for a few hours and died in great agony.

Threats of Lynching.

The murderer is heavily guarded because of wild threats of lynching. He will be brought here by automobile under guard. The news was received here by telephone message to a brother of Logan, a deputy sheriff, who, with a party, started immediately for Manhattan and anticipated that he would shoot the murderer on sight. Excitement is intense here and in Manhattan. There is talk of lynching when the man arrives here. A strong guard will be provided.

Sentiment Divided.

Sentiment is divided as to justifiable cause of the shooting. Claims are made that Logan was unduly officious. Logan leaves a widow and eight children in Smoky valley, near Manhattan. Three children are in school at Oakland, Cal. He was a member of the Eagles and Odd Fellows and was popular all over the county and State.

Berleau is a crooked gambler and a bad man. He shot Walter Berleau, a faro dealer in the Monarch saloon at that place. The trouble occurred late Friday night in a disreputable house owned by a woman named Bigger. Berleau was drunk on a couch. The woman ordered him out. They quarreled and Berleau struck the woman in the face. She called to Logan for help.

Handcuffed to Tree.

Some time ago Berleau was handcuffed to a tree for drunkenness, as there is no jail in Manhattan. Berleau blamed Logan for his arrest and detention, and bore a grudge against him.

The deputy sheriff of Manhattan warned Logan a few days ago of the threats against his life, but Logan laughed and paid no attention.

Logan drove to Manhattan a few days ago, when he was shot. He was badly wounded, which necessitated bandages, which he wore until the time of the shooting. He could not have used his gun at the time.

Sentiment is strong against the woman charged with the shooting. She is a great reform wave is expected all over these districts in consequence of the shooting and murder.

Message From the Coast.

A message was sent from San Francisco upon news of the shooting, declaring the killing of Logan and stating that such acts are all too common and demanding that the punishment of the murderer be made an example to the rest of the community. It is signed by leading miners of California and Nevada.

Will Be Prompt Action.

District Attorney Pitman left at once for the scene of the shooting and assured prompt action and prosecution. He will not rest until the murderer is hung for his crime. Leading business men held an informal meeting tonight and decided to employ additional help in the prosecution. A citizens' committee has been organized to assist in the prosecution of the murderer and other camps of lawlessness.

Dividend Is Declared.

From the undivided profits it was stated that dividends of 10 per cent on the preferred stock, amounting to $20,000, have been set aside for the next year and that dividends would be paid quarterly as usual. Water conditions for the coming year are decidedly favorable and on account of the surplus of cash made by the sale of the bonds the company will not be obliged to henceforth borrow money during the operating season, which will be a measure of considerable economy.

WORKS THE POLICE FOR SOME HARD CASH

Italian of Portland Plays a General-Manager of Smooth Game Upon Officers Hunting Murderer.

PORTLAND, Or., April.—Frank Sibaldi, an Italian, was arrested in Portland today on suspicion of being Peter Tortorici, the man who is alleged to have killed B. Viardo at 423 Vallejo street, San Francisco, in a particularly atrocious manner. Sibaldi was released tonight when, on close examination, he was found to differ in several material particulars from the description of Tortorici.

Wanted the Reward First.

The morning after the Portland police had been notified by Chief of Police Dinan of San Francisco that Tortorici was supposed to be in Portland the local detectives found an Italian who claimed to be personally acquainted with Tortorici. This man was willing to point out the much-wanted Tortorici in consideration of $500, but declared he was afraid to do so unless they paid him his reward several days before making the arrest, so as to enable him to escape from Portland and hide from the vengeance of the Italian friends of Tortorici who live here and in San Francisco.

Not Man Wanted.
